Panhandle Joins Coronado Celebration '40

Historical Group Signs Contract With New Mexico

Meeting Held Yesterday In Albuquerque Forming Three State Pact on Celebration

CELEBRATION 1940

Seek Coinage of Special Half Dollar Honoring Trip of Coronado Thru States in 1540-41

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society has joined hands with New Mexico and Arizona in sponsoring a gigantic Cuerto-Centennial celebration to be staged in 1940. The occasion will be strictly historical in nature, celebrating the conquest of Coronado through this territory in 1540-1541.

Congressman Dempsey of New Mexico has introduced a bill in congress asking for a special fifty cent piece to be coined in commemoration of this occasion. Congressman Marvin Jones has an amendment to the bill which would include the Panhandle area. Arizona has been asked to join in the movement since Coronado went into that territory after passing through the Panhandle, and on west through New Mexico. All members of Congress from the three states will be asked to get in behind the bill and assist in putting it over. If the bill is passed, it will provide that the coins will be put on sale by the New Mexico Cuerto Centennial Commission, the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and the Arizona Historical Society. The proceeds of the sale will go to the Museum building fund.

Secretary L. F. Sheffy, H. C. Pipkin, Floyd Studer and Dr. H. B. Carroll were in Albuquerque Sunday conferring with New Mexico officials. They made another trip yesterday and brought back an agreement whereby the three historical societies will work together.

When the celebration is staged, the main features will be in New Mexico. The Panhandle will be the gateway leading to the Coronado celebration, and the museum building will be the center of activities for this section.

The Panhandle delegation was received in a most cordial manner in Albuquerque. Because of the size of the undertaking, the assistance of this area and of Arizona was greatly appreciated in putting over the project. Governor Tingley and other New Mexico officials are in hearty accord with the project, and approved of the contract which was entered into between the three states.

Wally and Davie Finally Together Ready for Wedding

With coronation of the new British King on next Wednesday, it is expected that the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Simpson will be married the following day, or at least some time before the end of May.

The divorce decree of Mrs. Simpson was made final Monday. The Duke left immediately to join her, leaving his self-imposed exile in Austria where he has spent five months since his abdication in December. He joined Mrs. Simpson in France Tuesday.

Plastering Complete In New Postoffice; Finishing Started

Plastering was completed Saturday on the new postoffice building, and finishing is now underway. Unless delays are experienced in receiving materials, the new building will be completed about the middle of June.

When it was discovered recently that no provision had been made for a new sidewalk along the south side of the building, Congressman Marvin Jones was requested to use his influence that this be done since the old walk is almost completely gone. The contractors have been requested by the treasury department to submit bids on the sidewalk and this work will likely be authorized in a few days.

The heating plant was tested out Saturday and Monday and found to be perfect.

Hiway Commission Will be Guests of Banquet at Amarillo

Members of the State Highway Commission will be entertained tonight at a banquet in Amarillo. The commission members are making an inspection of the Panhandle and representatives from various towns will meet them at the banquet tonight.

Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt, Harry Hines and John Woods, all members, and State Engineer Gibb Gilchrist will be at the banquet and make the trip over the Panhandle.

A number of Canyon citizens will attend the banquet.

City Disposal Tanks are Being Enlarged Under WPA Project

Twenty feet is being added to one of the tanks in the city sewage disposal plant located southeast of town. The project is under the direction of WPA with Jake Harrison in charge of construction.

The city has two sewage tanks and is increasing the size of one in order to provide a better disposal system.

Well on Court House Lawn Will be Equipped Electric Pump

The well on the court house lawn will be equipped with an electric pump and the lawn will be irrigated with water from this source. The well was equipped with an engine when the court house was first built, but this was discarded several years ago, and connections made with the city water system.

The well is being cleaned out ready to install the new equipment. The lawn will not be seeded until fall as the season is too far advanced for grass to be started. Blue grass will be used in seeding the lawn this fall.

BLUE BONNETS GROWN BY MRS. DEGRAFFENRIED

Canyon citizens who did not know that blue bonnets would grow in Canyon have only to drive to the home of Mrs. M. C. DeGraffenried, 806 Fourth Ave., and see the flowers growing in front of the house.

Mrs. DeGraffenried raises many kinds of flowers and experimented to see if the blue bonnet would grow. She brought a bouquet to the News office, and they are as good as those raised in South Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Branson and son Bob spent Sunday visiting in the J. B. Elliston home at Hereford.

Membership in Agricultural Association Is the Largest in State, Exceeding Quota

Randall county leads all counties in the state with its membership in the Texas Agricultural Association. A total of 478 memberships have been taken in the organization by the farmers of the county. This far exceeds the quota set for the county, and establishes a record which will likely not be surpassed by any county in the state.

The Farmers' Banner, official organ of the Association, in its issue of May 1st, runs a banner across the front page, "Randall County Takes Lead in Membership Drive." The following story was printed regarding the work in Randall county:

"Randall County, up in the Panhandle, heretofore moving along quietly and without apparent extra effort, has suddenly jumped into the lead of all Texas counties in point of membership in the Texas Agricultural Association. The list of paid-up members sent in during the past week has brought Randall County's membership up to a total of 478, thus passing Ochiltree, another Panhandle county, which has been leading the state in point of membership from practically the opening of the present membership campaign.

"Much credit goes to Randall County for this distinction, in view of the fact that it is comparatively small in population, the present membership far exceeding the county's quota.

"Active in obtaining the membership in this county were J. P. Hix, president of the Randall County Agricultural Association; L. B. Hammond, secretary, and R. B. Gist.

"Randall County not only has distinguished itself in the present membership drive but it has been outstanding in its co-operation with other Texas counties from the (Continued on last page)

Senate Passes Education Appropriation Bill Without Debate

The State Senate passed the educational appropriation bill Friday afternoon in a few minutes without debate or changes. The recommendations of the Finance Committee were accepted and the bill sent to the House.

W. T. would receive $239,375 for the first year and $244,375 for the second year under this bill.

The House has not received its bill from the Appropriations Committee.

It is believed that all appropriation bills will be passed by the legislature before May 12th, the end of the 120 day period. However, the legislature will likely remain in session for at least another week, although the pay of the members will be reduced from $10 per day to $5 per day starting May 13th.

President J. A. Hill is in Austin and will likely remain until the appropriation bill is finally passed.

Display Cases For Museum to be Built by Manual Training

The manual training department of W. T. has been awarded the contract to build the display cases for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum. The contract was awarded by the Board of Control at Austin after bids were submitted by a number of firms.

John A. Gillis of this department has directed the construction of practically all of the cases now in the museum, and will start to work on the new cases as soon as materials are received.

The cases will be built with $3,000 which remained in the Centennial fund which was given to the museum. This gift amounted to $25,000, which was used to build the basement to the addition just north of Pioneer Hall. WPA contributed the excavation, amounting to $3,800, which made possible the present fund with which the cases are being built.

It is expected that the farmer will be notified by the end of May as to his base acreage which has been approved by the county and state boards.

Work is being speeded up this year so that the farmers may receive their checks around the first of the year for compliance with the 1937 program.

Hobbies Discussed Tuesday at Rotary Lunch by McCarty

John McCarty of the Amarillo News-Globe lead in the discussion of hobbies at the luncheon of the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday. Mr. McCarty told of his own hobbies in photography and collection of Indian relics.

Among those who told of their hobbies were: Floyd Savage, Walter Upchurch, Doug Shirley, Levi Cole, Bob Jarrett, Al Baggett, George Foster, Clarence Thompson, Marion Bishir, Harris Cook, Chas. Dickey, Jess Barker, Irby Carruth, Wes Kleinschmidt, and Dr. Bob Neblett.

It developed that Levi Cole has a collection of several thousand postage stamps on which he has been working since a school boy. He is also interested in Indian relics.

Marion Bishir admitted that he tried to raise a garden "that looked half as good as the pictures."

Al Baggett has been a collector of rocks since a boy, and his work in rock on the campus comes from a natural instinct.

Dr. Neblett stated that while he did not have a hobby, all doctors realize the value of a hobby, and urged all men to have them. When men grow old and have to relax, if they do not have a hobby there is nothing for them to let down on.

Visitors were: Leroy White, N. S. Griggs, Arthur Osgood, Guy Carlander and John McCarty, all of Amarillo.

Governor Signs New Law Passed By Legislature

W. A. Warren Is Given Credit Starting Conservation Movement In Panhandle

MEETING TODAY

Congressman Jones Will Seek Aid of Congress To Build Lakes and Dams in Panhandle

Water conservation in the Panhandle received an official boost from the State of Texas Thursday when the bill of Senator Small creating the Panhandle Conservation Association passed the House. The bill was signed by Governor Allred on Tuesday of this week.

Backed by the official authority from the state, the officers of the association will meet in Amarillo this afternoon where plans will be made to take the conservation plea to Washington. W. A. Warren of Canyon is one of the directors of the association and is given credit for having formulated the original plan for the association. The Canyon Chamber of Commerce started the movement to build a dam south of Umlonger on the Tierra Blanca. When the co-operation of adjoining counties was sought it was decided to expand the efforts of the group to include the entire Panhandle.

The association is headed by John McCarty of Amarillo. It obtained the assistance of Congressman Marvin Jones in Washington, and the Senators and Representatives from this section in the legislature in order to receive official recognition through the new law. Mr. Jones was able to secure an interview with President Roosevelt on the subject of conservation, and it was found that the President has plans to take care of this section along the line as advocated by the local citizens.

The legislature provided an appropriation of $3,000 to assist in carrying on the work. 32 counties of the Panhandle are contributing to the expense of the association. Carl Hinton has been loaned to the association by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the association paying only his actual expenses.

Congressman Jones will seek an appropriation for building lakes and dams in this section with the view of holding water where it falls. Three New Mexico counties will join the association through legislation which has already passed its legislature. Colorado and Oklahoma will likely join the association.

Headquarters will be maintained in Amarillo. Details for future activities will be handled in an official manner, since the association is now a legal body working under the direction of the state.

Light Shower Falls Sunday Night, But No General Rain

A light shower fell in the county Sunday night, but no general rain has fallen in the Panhandle. Some small areas have received fair rains.

Good rains fell on the extreme South Plains during the past week. Various reports are received as to the wheat condition in Randall county, but none are optimistic because of the lack of rain.

A light shower fell here last night. According to reports this morning, the rain amounted to half an inch in the northwest part of the county.

The Canyon News

CLYDE W. WARWICK
Owner and Publisher

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 PER YEAR

Entered at the postoffice at Canyon, Texas, as second class matter. Published weekly at office, 1513 Fourth Avenue, Canyon, Texas.

The Dallas News is up to its old tricks of adroitly fighting the teachers colleges of the state by sinister comparisons. Two weeks ago the Dallas News approved the raise in teachers salaries by the legislature. That was fine. But a few days later, this great publication took a back-handed slap at the institutions which produce most of the teachers of the state. It declared that while one president of a teachers college might be worth $5,000 per year, that seven such presidents were not worth $35,000 to the state. The Dallas publication goes further by discrediting the $19 apportionment of the state in comparison to the proposed $312 per capita appropriation for the colleges. Possibly so far as dollars and cents are concerned, one state institution in Austin or Dallas could be run a little cheaper than the seventeen plants are now being run. But what about the students? The mission of the state is to take education to those who would otherwise be deprived of educational advantages. The records of all colleges show that the majority of the students are drawn from a radius of 100 miles of all institutions. To build one college in Texas would deprive thousands of poor young people of an opportunity to attend college. To build one institution would bankrupt the teacher training facilities and therefore cripple the public schools of the state. The Dallas News cannot justify its fight upon the widely located teachers colleges, which are in reality the poor students' colleges, in favor of building up an aristocracy of education which it seeks to maintain in the other 10 institutions of the state and in the denominational colleges. Any one who has passed the first grade knows how childish it is to argue that the state should give the common schools the same amount of money per capita as the institutions of higher learning. The support of the common schools is more a local than a state problem. If the common schools of the state are to be made a success it is important that the teachers be improved, and this may be accomplished only through the improvement of teacher training institutions.

The House of Representatives has passed two constitutional amendments which would make radical changes in the state government. The first would extend the term of office of all but state officers to four years. This measure is being fought in the senate since a primary election would be held every two years, without means of financing such primaries excepting on the years when county and precinct officers were elected. The second amendment would increase the salaries of legislators to $3,000 per year. Under the present system of $10 per day for the 120-day session and the same amount for each special session, legislators are receiving about $3,000 for each two years as the special sessions usually number three to four. The argument is made that with an unlimited session, the legislature would rush through with its work, but would stay in Austin long enough to get the job done. The per diem of the members is not the only big item in connection with a session of the legislature. The salary of the employees and the incidental expenses run practically as much as the per diem of members. This being the case, legislative costs would run from two to three times the present cost if the amendment is submitted and carried at the polls.

When will the cost of government be reduced? Only when the people cease to demand less of the government. President Roosevelt has urged congress to reduce the cost of federal government. His message had no sooner been read than congressmen started a revolt, some demanding more money for one thing, and others demanding more for other things. Government is a most peculiar institution. Its functions and its cost increases annually rather than diminishes. The same thing is true in Austin. When the depression was on, appropriations were radically reduced. But the depression brought new problems to the state, and new departments were created. More money is needed than at any time in the history of the state. It is not likely that the cost of government in Texas will ever be less than it is today.

Several thousand Americans will spend a million or so dollars going to London to see the new King and Queen crowned. The men will wear knee breeches and the women must pass a close scrutiny of their clothing before being presented at court. The glory of kings and queens has not died, although the dictators of Europe have done a pretty good job of relegating monarchy to the rear. With England as the one and only great monarchy remaining, royalty will see to it that this coronation is the greatest show ever staged. After all, who does not like a real show, and this will be the most glamorous ever staged.

EDUCATION ENGINEERING ENFORCEMENT

Nearly 40 million drivers, some good and some bad... Three times that many pedestrians, including the lame, the halt and the blind... More than 28 million automobiles, some in good condition and others nearly ready to fall apart... Three million miles of highways, with a score of physical hazards in every mile. Add all these together and you have America's traffic lottery, a complex game of life and death in which all of us, willing or not, must participate.

America's shameful automobile accident toll, according to the latest figures issued by The Travelers Insurance Company, reached the staggering total of 36,800 dead and 967,840 injured in 1936.

Why? Many individuals make the mistake of attributing this awful toll to one or two simple causes. The engineer says: "When we build better highways and cars, the accidents will stop." The law enforcement officer says: "The only way to teach motorists to behave is to crack down on them." Some persons say "Cut down speeds and you'll cut down accidents." Others claim with equal emphasis: "Eliminate drunken driving and you'll eliminate most of the accidents."

Actually, there are many causes of accidents, and a natural remedy for each. Pictured above are a few. Many American cities are enjoying reductions in their accident rates each year in spite of the fact that the totals for the country as a whole are climbing steadily upward. These cities are seeking out all the causes and applying the correct remedy to each. They are carrying on a balanced program of education, engineering and enforcement.

Will the race horse gambling law be repealed this session of the legislature? Very likely not. The opponents have the bill nicely tucked away under legislature procedure, and in charge of a past-master in killing bills. Governor Allred has warned the legislature that he will call a special session for the purpose of repealing the law if the regular session does not act. The big race horse meets of the state will be carried on this spring as usual, with the suckers losing millions of dollars to the professional gamblers.

The legislature will not allow the people to vote upon the one-house legislature at this time. Both the House and Senate killed the bill. While we personally favor such a bill, we believe that it is well to watch the success of Nebraska before adopting the change. Many of the constitutional changes in Texas in recent years are not worth much to the state. The greatest service in Texas would be a reduction of the number of members in the House.

The Kentucky Derby will be run Saturday. Bookies have offered to the suckers a list of 108 horses on which bets are being received. About a dozen horses will start. The gamblers will pocket the money placed on the 90-odd horses which do not start. No wonder Governor Allred is urged by the moral and religious leaders of Texas to take this state out of the gambling business. The state has no right to approve open race horse gambling.

No matter what the family feud is about, the public is pretty well convinced that Almee McPherson, her mother and her daughter have been very successful business women and have managed to extract a lot of dollars from the so-called religious flock. Just why is it that folks will run off after a cracked leader of some off-bred brand when there are so many sound denominations in the nation?

Coke Stevenson will likely be a candidate for lieutenant governor next year. He was elected speaker of the House for two terms, and if elected lieutenant governor would be the first man to have presided over both houses of the legislature. John Garner is the first man to have presided over both houses of congress.

No wonder unemployment shows no decline. Under modern development and devices in many lines of industry one man is now doing the work that formerly occupied the time of from three to seven men. The machine age has increased production far beyond the ability of the nation to consume.

Swat the fly as it appears. Killing off the first batch of flies will reduce the fly population by thousands before the end of the summer. But the only way to control the fly population is to destroy the breeding places.

Texas is now sixteen million dollars in the red. Some sort of new taxes must be passed to meet this deficit. The deficiency has steadily been increasing during the past ten years.

Running the clock forward or backward with the sun seems like a simple way of kidding yourself. Only big town folks indulge in this so-called daylight saving plan.

Healthful Cooking!

Believe it or not, your cooking method has much to do with the health of the entire family. In the first place, because electric cooking is practically "waterless cooking," the food cooked holds a much greater proportion of its precious nourishment elements. There is no flavor-laden excess of water to rob your food of the very qualities it is supposed to be providing. But electric cooking goes farther—it provides a clean, wholesome, healthful atmosphere in the kitchen; a complete absence of smoke and soot. It makes the kitchen a cool, comfortable place to work the year round.

It even goes so far as to make for a more harmonious home life because it takes all the drudgery and confusion and worry out of the business of "preparing three meals a day."

Alpha Chi Gives Banquet Honoring Visiting Delegates

Dr. Gates, Miss Luker Principal Speakers Of Evening

Visiting members of Alpha Chi were honored at a banquet in the dining room of Cousins Hall Friday night. Papers were read by Dr. W.B. Gates of Texas Technological College and Miss Julia Luker, of McMurry College, president of the council. Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, head of the College English department, was toastmaster for the occasion.

Dr. Gates, speaking on "Anglo-Saxon Ideals and Scholarship," said, "If education is rightly understood as the cultivation of the intelligent, the cultivation of the intelligent is the same for all men in all societies."

Cultivation, he said, implies a material to work with. The intelligent cannot be cultivated in a vacuum. What is it to work upon? There is one thing we cannot escape—the past. No one of us is the same person today that he would have been had Newton never lived or Shakespeare or Milton or Homer.

In conclusion, he quoted Plato's statement: "An intelligent man will prize those studies which result in his soul getting soberness, righteousness, and wisdom and will less value others."

Addressing the group on "The Scholar and Creative Writing," Miss Luker said, "Creative or imaginative writing springs from a rich heritage."

"Science says choose the truth. Art says there are two appeals—beauty and goodness. It takes courage today to hold these incentives," she said.

Lloyd Green Allen, for many years dean of the College and founder of the local chapter of Alpha Chi which bears his name, was introduced by the toastmaster.

The College orchestra under the direction of Wallace R. Clark, provided music. Miss Betty Jones, college voice student, presented vocal selections. Miss Mary Morgan Brown, head of the college speech department, entertained with humorous readings.

The meeting next year will be held at Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway, Arkansas.

Miss Edna Graham, College dean of women, was made chairman of the committee to form alumni chapters of Alpha Chi.

Thirty-four delegates, eighteen visitors, thirty ex-members, and twenty-five local chapter members attended the two-day convention.

Following are the names of institutions and the student and faculty representatives present at the council: Abilene Christian College, Paul C. Witt, faculty, Kenneth Badgett, student; Arkansas State Teachers College, P. R. Clugston, faculty, William Massie, student; Baylor University, Matthew Daw-

Four Years Old, the CCC Now Looks Ahead to a Permanent Setup

WASHINGTON. — With four years of major accomplishment behind it, the Civilian Conservation Corps looks forward to a permanent place in the life of the nation. President Roosevelt has asked Congress to preserve the CCC and it appears certain that legislation to that end will be enacted.

Very probably it will be a reduced CCC. Maintenance of the existing 2002 camps scattered throughout the United States proper and American possessions, with their 350,000 enrollees, would adversely affect the Treasury. Mr. Roosevelt has warned. But, at the same time, he cites the need of the CCC for years to come. Present enrollments expire June 30.

In the light of these circumstances, then, what is the record of four years for the CCC? The story is revealed in the recent report of Robert Fechner, its director. It shows what was accomplished by the 2,000,000 men, enrollees and non-enrolled, since President Roosevelt signed the executive order establishing this unique organization in April, 1933.

EXCEPTIONALLY meaty, Mr. Fechner's report sets out these basic facts:

1—In four years $700,000,000 has been expended for food-stuffs, wearing apparel, work equipment, and miscellaneous supplies.

2—Enrollees have sent home, in addition, an aggregate of $360,000,000 in wages under the compulsory allocation order of the CCC.

3—The CCC has revitalized public interest in the needs of conservation and advanced the nation far in its conservation program.

4—The CCC has succeeded as an "investment in manhood," turning inexperienced youths into self-reliant, physically sturdy young men, thousands of whom have obtained education in college subjects along with their regular work.

Getting down to figures, Mr. Fechner reports that the workers in the four years have expended 3,800,000 man-days fighting forest fires; conducted campaigns against insects and destructive timber diseases over 15,000,000 acres; built 87,000 miles of truck trails, minor roads, highways, and park roads; constructed more than 45,000 miles of telephone lines, and erected more than 3000 fire look-out and observation towers.

Life for the CCC in America's vast outdoor accomplished two things in the last four years—it rehabilitated thousands of the nation's youth and made the United States conservation conscious. In these pictures the CCC goes to work, lines up for the noon "chuck," and returns to labors again on a reforestation project.

MOREOVER, the CCC has planted more than 1,000,000,000 trees, most of them on wastelands; improved 2,700,000 acres of timber lands, developed thousands of public camp grounds, and extended erosion control programs across the length and breadth of the nation.

Nor is this all. More than 50,000 of these young men, once in poor health, aimlessly wandering the city streets, have learned to read and write; more than 400,000 have taken high school subjects, while 50,000 others have pursued college work in conjunction with their health activities.

But these figures still don't tell the real story of the CCC, contends Mr. Fechner. The real story, he says, are the results achieved in citizenship. Almost 2,000,000 men and boys have been improved physically, mentally, and in character.

And that alone, argues the President, is substantial grounds for a permanent CCC.

Resolutions of respect were passed, in memory of Mrs. Oscar Hunt who passed away April 27, as follows:

Honoring the memory of our dear friend and neighbor, Mrs. Oscar Hunt, who labored so faithfully with us in years past, we deem it fitting at this time, the first meeting of The Social Pioneers, since the death of our dear member, to pass a word of condolence and comfort to her bereaved husband and all who grieve her passing.

It is well known by those who knew Mrs. Hunt that not only they, but the whole community in which she resided for so many years, were better off for having had a friend, an acquaintance and citizen like her. The Social Pioneers was organized and progressed under her very able leadership, and cognizance of this will not soon be forgotten by members of the organization.

Therefore be it Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the organization; that a copy be published in The Canyon News, and that a copy be sent to Mr. Oscar Hunt.

CAREFUL SELECTION OF GARDEN

Faced With Heavy Traffic Toll, Nation Moves Toward Safer Driving

THE nation swings toward safer driving in 1937. Faced with the staggering total of approximately 38,000 traffic deaths in 1936, a gain of 4 per cent over 1935, America is waging the greatest highway safety drive ever launched.

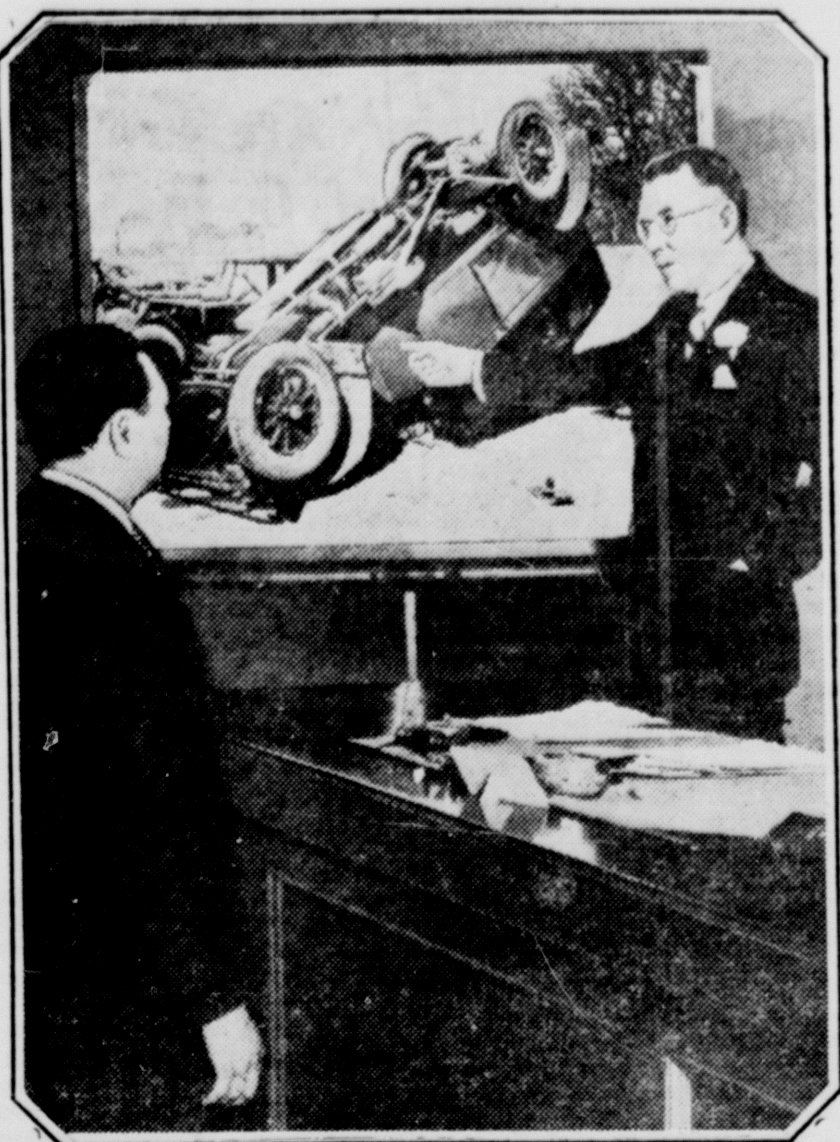

Registration figures show that 28,270,000 vehicles traveled the streets and highways last year. And they covered 225,000,000,000 miles, 22,000,000,000 more than in 1935. Moreover, the registration and the mileage for 1937 is sure to exceed even these figures. Therefore, the problem.

What is the nation doing about it? Specifically, this far-flung campaign includes enactment of up-to-date motor vehicle and traffic laws in many states; planned highway and traffic engineering programs; safety programs; provisions for more severe punishment for reckless and drunken driving; mandatory drivers' licensing; compulsory motor vehicle inspection; better co-operation by the courts; appointment of state traffic commissions; drivers' instruction courses, and a campaign to arouse public opinion.

THIS year, for example, there are 34 bills pertaining to driver licensing pending in 16 states. And recently the National Safety Council, prime force in the campaign to make America safer for driving, completed a nationwide safety program, an annual highlight in its work.

Oddly enough, New York was named grand prize winner of that contest, displacing Milwaukee, which finished first in the "big city" group in 1935, and Evanston, Ill., 1936 grand prize winner. New York closed 1936 with 838 traffic accident deaths, a figure 12.2 per cent lower than the 1935 total of 954, and 17 per cent lower than the average total for the three previous years. New York's showing proved that the death toll of the road can be reduced. Most effective in that city was the police department's interdicted contest for accident reduction.

But perhaps an even more apt illustration is Kansas City, Mo. That metropolis reduced its traffic fatalities 25 per cent from 1933 to 1936. And it's still going strong, conducting, at the present time, an all-year educational and enforcement program under the direction of its police department and safety council.

Press, radio, and pulpit are aiding in the Kansas City drive, as well as service, civic, and educational institutions. At the same time the law is demanding still stricter enforcement. Pedestrians, as well as drivers, are checked up in this city. Monthly contests among police districts are featured. The result: Kansas City cut its death toll from 101 in 1933 to 76 a year ago, and hopes to reduce fatalities 50 per cent more in 1937.

SUCH is the trend. Eight states managed to reduce fatalities sharply in January, 1937, over January, 1936, despite the sizable jump in the volume of travel and the "open weather" conditions. These were Nevada, 100 per cent; South Dakota, 40; Washington, 31; Kansas, 29; Rhode Island, 14; Indiana, 13; Iowa, 13, and Arizona, 9.

True, the death toll is a staggering one. But its very size has become one of the most potent factors in the campaign to make America safer for driving. Public opinion is at work. With that power, the battle appears half won.

Fame Finds Shirley Temple, at Eight, Still Hollywood's Most Natural Person

HOLLYWOOD.—Five years ago Mrs. Gertrude Temple, returning from a dancing school with 3-year-old Shirley, consented to a movie interview for her little daughter.

It didn't take long. There were scores of children of Shirley's age being interviewed, and the movie representatives wasted no time. Afterward, Shirley told her mother that "the man just had me walk up and down the room." And Mrs. Temple laughed off the incident as just a bit of experiment. Mr. Temple, too, learned of the interview and protested that he didn't want his daughter to be a "show-off" in the movies.

But three days later the Temple telephone rang. A studio wanted Shirley to come down for screen tests. And Mr. and Mrs. Temple (Mr. Temple is manager of a small branch bank) finally consented, more because of curiosity than anything else. The result, however, was Shirley's first screen contract; $10 a day for four days a week in "War Babies." Hollywood's most amazing child cinema career had begun!

APRIL 23 Shirley will be 8. Behind her stretches a long list of star productions, one of the largest bank accounts in filmland, and the still-undimmed adulation of fans around the world.

But Shirley is unchanged! She's still about the most natural person in Hollywood. In fact, she looks and appears just as she is in pictures.

At 8, Shirley finds herself continuously busy doing one of three things: acting, studying her school lessons in her studio dressing room just off the set, or romping in play just like any other child of her age.

Shirley has never been in a public school room, and probably never will be. Obviously, the adulation of the public and the press of the curious just would not permit that. So Shirley has obtained her education right on the set.

You might think Shirley a bit breathless after the series of triumphs she has secured in Hollywood in five years, but she isn't. And she's still able to blow out those candles on her cake.

She is at the studio from 9 o'clock until 5. Three hours of that time are taken up with her lessons. One hour goes for lunch. And, during the other four hours, she is available for the camera.

Being a star, Shirley has on the studio lot a bungalow that includes a large and elaborately equipped playroom. The one thing most vital, the studio feels, is that Shirley never loses her childhood interests.

SHIRLEY is studying conversational French in addition to her regular lessons. Recently, in a picture, she learned 400 Chinese words as part of the script. She is an apt pupil.

Ordinarily it takes about two months to make a Temple picture. Shirley has a three-week layoff between pictures and a full three-month summer vacation. Mrs. Temple is a sort of co-director, who teaches Shirley all of her lines and, now and then, scolds Shirley when she "acts up." For Shirley is, after all, a healthy, vigorous, normal child. She must be treated accordingly.

What of her future? Mrs. Temple and her husband are agreeable to Shirley's leaving the movies any time. And they likely will insist that she cease acting whenever she really "begins to act." Shirley is still playing when she's acting. And recently she told her mother, "I think I'll be an actress when I grow up."

But whatever she becomes, she will have achieved one of the truly great careers of Hollywood.

THE EAGLE'S TALE

Come To Stunt Night!

VOL. NO. 11.

CANYON, TEXAS, MAY 6, 1937.

NUMBER 32

Howdy, Kids,
It shored wuz good to see all those Seniors back in school after their trip to Carlsbad last week end, and by the by I believe the homemakers jest got back from Fort Worth last Monday. My you folks sure are traveling about and I hope the Press Club has a grand time on their trip. I guess you'll know that they left real early this morning for Austin. They're gonna attend that there state meet and Ray Ford is going to enter the high jump. Jump high "Bot" and don't let Foust out jump you. I heard he was agoing.

Did everybody see that faculty play last night? It shored wuz a good one. Wasn't Mr. Brown the cutest thing? You should dress like that more often, Mr. Brown. Let's see, Mr. Brown was Miss Greenfield's little boy so that makes him Billy's nephew and Miss Crittenden was Miss Greenfield's mother, so that makes her Mr. Brown's grandma. Oh, dear what a mess. Let's skip it.

Well Seniors, you got some of your old medicine, letting them fish slip up on you, but if you hadn't been the one to break the ice several years ago the fish would never have had the pep to get up and win.

You know it won't be long until school will be out. Jest think the Seniors jest have one more week after this one, and the other kids jest have two. Well it shored will seem funny to come to town and not go up to that there school every day. But I'll be seeing the most of you next year.

Melvin, I guess you did pretty good on your writing a newstory at Plainview last week end. Too bad you couldn't have had more stories to take down.

Say, ex-students, the kids kinda of feel forgotten this year. I bet not ten of you exes have been back since you finished school. Come back and see us sometime, you really don't have much time to waste in coming far school is about out. Usually the exes come back with out being asked, but we are not going to beg you to come to see us. You will have to come of your own free will.

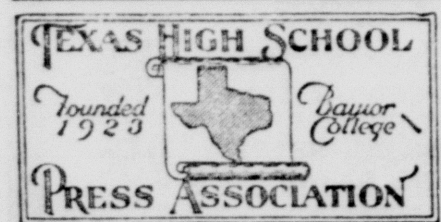

Say, Bill Cone has been coming to see us quite often. Hurry back, Bill.

And by the way, that game between the Seniors and the Eagles was grand. I wish more of you could have seen it. Did you Seniors ever think that wuz your last game to play for dear old C. H. S. But anyway come back and see those powerful Eagles fly to district next year.

Hey, Mr. Brown, I heard way last spring that the Eaglettes were gonna to play the Seniors and I've been to school ten different times to see them play, and they haven't played yet. How about letting them play a game jest for fun?

I shored do wish I could make this longer cuz I'm not gonna to get to write to you alls many more times, but the editor said enough is enough.

So long, Cactus.

Since the school term is ending, the last weeks are taken up with the traveling of different clubs. There are always a few who need "manner brush-ups." ## High School Press Club Will Attend Conference At Austin

Future Farmers Have Father-Son Banquet

The Future Farmers of the Canyon Chapter held their first Father and Son banquet, April 27, at 7:30 o'clock at the Canyon High School. The banquet was opened by the regular F. F. A. ceremony. The officers are, president, Thomas Harris; vice president, Lavert Avent; treasurer, Bill Bewley; secretary, Melvin Calliham; reporter, R. E. Prichard; and advisor, Milton Morris. After the ceremony, Herbert Kuhlman was asked to give the invocation.

Toastmaster, Thomas Harris called upon Lester Smith to welcome the dads and visitors. Mr. Grady Persons gave the response. During the meal, which consisted of fried chicken, cream gravy, mashed potatoes, snap beans, hot rolls, butter, vegetable salad, pickles, pie coffee and punch, Eston Brietling and Lester Smith played "Mother, the Queen of My Heart," "Little Brown Jug," and "My Darling Nellie Gray." Following the music, Billy Davis, Carol Dooley, Glen Campbell, Glyn Persons, and Eston Brietling each gave a verse of the F. F. A. Creed. The balance of the program was carried out in the following manner:

F. F. A. Emblem, Glen Moss. Winning Essay, Melvin Calliham. F. F. A. Contest, Lavert Avent. Profit Report, Glen Campbell. Reminiscence, Mr. Milton Morris. The address was given by Mr. T. C. Thompson, whose topic was "The Past and the Future Farming." After the address each member introduced his father. There were three distinguished guests present from the State department of Agriculture: Mr. O. T. Ryon, Area supervisor; Mr. J. B. Rutland, state supervisor; and Mr. R. A. Manire, state director, each of whom gave a short talk after his introduction.

Kate Donnell, the chapter sweetheart, and Anne Maxwell, who helped with the decorations were then introduced. Everyone stood and sang "America," and the meeting was closed with the regular F. F. A. ceremony.

Spanish Banquet Held Wed. Nite

The annual Spanish Banquet was held last night in the Home Economics dining room.

The favors were large yellow sombreros with the name written in Spanish and in red ink on them. The decorations were carried out according to the Spanish motive.

The program and the entertainment was as follows:

Toastmaster, Jimmie Pope. America, All. The Welcome, Jimmie Pope. Mexicola Rosa, Anna May Spencer, Helen Johnson. Club History, Sarah Thompson. Piano Solo, Geraldine Hart. Playlet, Mildred Tucker and Alta Fly. Rancho Grande, Sanford Black. Dance, Anne Maxwell. Talks. Good Night Ladies, All.

Its really shocking to the modern girl how easily her mother is shocked.

IF YOU DON'T GOSSIP—WELL!
"I know I run around with June a lot, and I like her, but—"

Statements to that effect may be heard every day, usually followed by a "catty" remark.

If you gossip about someone, it will hurt you a great deal more than it does him. The person may never hear it at all. If he does his feelings may be hurt; but he will get over that, while you have lost something from your character. Even if it is true, why bring it up? Remember that once a thing is said, it cannot be unsaid.

Gossip and sarcasm are childish and only prove to the world what you are made of.

Before saying anything about a person, first ask yourself if it is true, if it isn't a decent person will not say it. Then if it seems to be true, ask yourself if you must necessarily say it or would it injure anoht's feeling or standing? Perhaps if you did these things one long line of gossipers would dwindle.

and peanuts are all bad habits (in public). Do not crowd when you get in a bus. While on the bus you should try to look as neat as possible and have neat luggage. You are judged by your appearance. Try to remember these hints, because they will help you improve your traveling habits and manners.

Eighteen members of the press club of Canyon High School left this morning at 4 o'clock to attend the Interscholastic League Press Conference at the University of Texas in Austin.

This evening in the Junior Ballroom of the Texas Union Building, there will be an informal reception. Hosts will be the members of the Austin High School Chapter of Quill and Scroll.

Friday morning the regular conference session begins. After registration is the introduction of officers: Miss Jeanne Storm, president of the I. L. P. C.; Miss Mary Collins, vice-president; and Miss Lois Brown, secretary. The welcome will be given by Mr. Paul J. Thompson, chairman of the department of Journalism and Mr. Harry Quinn president of the Sigma Delta Chi. The main discussion will be led by Mr. Elmer Calliham, sponsor of the W. C. Stripling High School paper, The Jacket Journal, on the subject of "Sustaining Student Interest in the School Paper."

Mr. Monte Barrett, who writes continuity for the adventure strip, Jane Arden, which appears in many Texas papers will lead the discussion on continuity strips, and their preparation.

After this the contests on news-writing, copyreading, headline writing, and feature, and editorial contests will be held.

Friday evening in the Capitol Ballroom of the Driskill Hotel the Journalism Jamboree will be held. There will be a banquet and other entertainment.

"Living the paper with Literary Features" is the main discussion of the morning being a panel discussion by Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller, Miss Ella Stone, and Miss Edith Fox, sponsors of the three San Antonio high school papers. Following this will be a series of ten minute talks by sponsors and students.

The business meeting, election of officers, and new regulations will be named before adjournment, also the announcing of the winners. Governor James V. Allred has promised to be at Friday morning's meeting if he is in town, but it is not evident that he can be there. Morte Barrett, however, will be the principal speaker of the program.

Students eligible to go to Austin from our school are: Mary Collins, Carolyn Mayfield, Marie O'Donald, Billy Greenfield, Melvin Calliham, Marielle Oldham, C. L. Drummond, Sherman Higdon, Jack Inman, John B. Pope, Natalie Flesher, Dorothy Warwick, Lillian Chambers, Jean Slack Margaret Stewart, Beulah Brasuel, Helen Hurst, and Anne Maxwell. They will be accompanied by the sponsor, Miss Pauline Crittenden and the outside sponsors, Mr. John B. Pope, and Mrs. T. V. Slack.

The delegation will leave Austin Saturday at noon to come to Dallas and spend the night, and return home Sunday.

The trip will be made in the large school bus, driven by Mr. Jim Upfold.

Rusk To Jump In State Meet

Ray Ford Rusk, will be the only representative Canyon High School will have at the State track meet in Austin May 8.

Ray Ford won first place in the district meet in the high jump and then went on to win the regional contest with a jump of 5 feet 11 inches. When closely pressed, he can beat six feet and it is certain he will meet some tough competition at the state meet.

The Eagle's Tale delegates to the I. L. P. C. will probably be the only supporters there except Coach Hutto, who will accompany Rusk on the trip.

"Mama's Baby Boy" Presented By Faculty

"Mama's Baby Boy" was presented May 5, Wednesday night, by members of the Grade School and High School faculty.

Mr. H. G. Moore, the widower, was as calm and collected as could be expected under the trying circumstances. He made his part convincing and amusing.

Mr. Gerald Brown portrayed a nice "Mama" Baby Boy" by wearing short pants and acting as if he were fourteen. He was really cute, making love to a twelve years old girl.

Miss Annie Ruth Eastus played an uproariously funny part; she was a seventeen year old who acted like a giggling twelve year old youngster, while father, Mr. Moore, a widower, was proposing to the widow.

Miss Ruth Greenfield played a very true to life widow who had to make a wealthy catch.

Miss Gwendolyn Black as Mrs. Anglin, matron, who liked joining clubs and things, gave a very convincing and entertaining performance.

The other characters worked around this entertaining plot of the play.

The proceeds of the play went to help send the Press Club to Austin, and all that wasn't needed was given to the Seniors for the Senior gift to the high school.

Ex-Student Sends Poem To Carruth

Opal Shuman Bragg, ex-student of the 1929 class, recently sent to Superintendent I. B. Carruth a poem which she wrote. Mrs. Bragg wrote many poems for the Eagle's Tale when she was in high school. This poem is about the "Lighthouse" in the Lighthouse Canyons.

"The Lighthouse"
Opal Shuman Bragg
There is that silent sentinel!

The watchdog of the canyon;
He rears his head above the hills,
And surveys his vast dominion.

For many years he has stood at watch
And sheltered friends and foes,
For ages past he has braved the storms
Of blizzards, rains, and snows.

His power and strength, his rugged form
Command the eyes of men;
The regions round about his feet
Their beauty to his blend.

His sage old head if we but knew
Holds all the tales on file,
But he's as silent as the Sphinx
That stands beyond the Nile.

For years to come he'll sing
Of queer inhabitants
That swarmed the canyon day by day
On hunts and pleasure jaunts.

If we could say and tell the truth,
As the lighthouse has to date,
That we could stand the tests of life,
We'd be doing something great.

BOOK REVIEW

"Drums Along the Mohawk," by Walter D. Edmonds, is the story of the forgotten pioneers of the Mohawk Valley driving the Revolutionary War.

Here a young couple lived and endured the hardships of this period without ever quite understanding.

Many important people and papers have commented on the book as the best of its kind.

"Here at last is a book which gives us what we so badly need, a foundation for a true philosophy of national life," says Hendrik Willem Van Loon.

Home Ec. Club Wins Honors at Fort Worth Meet

Beulah Brasuel

Gertrude Miller, freshman, won first place in menu planning at the Homemaking Rally in Fort Worth last week-end.

Canyon has been put in the Class A group. Hazel Sanders entered from the second year group and Beulah Brasuel from the third. Each girl entered two contests.

Mildred Shuman was chosen by the Junior Homemakers' Club for representative to attend the all-State Club meeting.

The students and Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel set out for Fort Worth last Wednesday at 12:15 o'clock, amid stacks of books, lunches and luggage.

About eight hours later not having stopped four any length of time we climbed wearily out of the car in front of the Worth Hotel.

Our test did not begin until 2 o'clock the next day; so while Mildred Shuman attended the all-State club meeting, Gertrude Miller, Hazel Sanders and I studied, while Miss Brasuel prepared the clothing exhibits for group entries.

Thursday night we attended a banquet after much jostling and crowding in attempting to reach the elevator which took us up fourteen floors to the Crystal Ballroom of the Texas Hotel.

Friday morning after our tests were finished, we went to the Worth Theater (on complimentary tickets) while Miss Brasuel attended a teachers' luncheon, and that evening she went to a teachers' meeting. We heard a band concert until time for her to be out of the meeting, but after that we had to wait for another hour and a half. While waiting for her, we rode elevators and made a few acquaintances with other girls who were waiting for their teachers.

On Saturday morning we attended the last grand meeting. After a short program the winners of the contests were announced. Gertrude Miller won first place in menu planning. Gertrude is the best in the State, Canyon having been put in Class A.

In rather high spirits we went to Forest Park. After riding the ferris wheel and merry mix-up for several minutes, however everything began to go "round and round," but we each had another ticket, and since we did not care to ride the merry-go-round, we again rode the ferris wheel. After that we didn't see much of the park. Miss Brasuel, Gertrude, and a girl we had asked to guide us to the park went to the zoo.

Miss Brasuel, Hazel, Gertrude, and I went on a sight-seeing tour and Mildred visited her aunt Saturday night. The most exciting event of our tour was the "thriller" at Lake Worth; the most beautiful was the rose-garden. We spent Saturday night at Mayo Courts and left Fort Worth at about 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

On the way home we stopped to get some flowers, and as Hazel still feeling the effects of the merry mix-up and elevators, was walking around the car, she exclaimed that she was going to faint, and she fell on the car fender. Although she didn't faint, she gave us quite a scare by nearly falling on the pavement. This was our first and last accident.

We got to Canyon shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday night, and our trip to Fort Worth became a thing of the past.

Communist Banner Waves From Flagpole on May Day

Communism's red banner greeted the College at dawn May Day from the flag pole in front of the administration building. School officials and county officers are still at a loss to explain the raising of the Communist ensign.

A student prank protesting some unpopular policy has been offered as a solution to the vexing problem. The quality of the flag, and the fact that it was hoisted on May Day, international holiday of Communists, has lead others to discredit this explanation believing that it was raised by Communists. There has never been a Communist organization on the W. T. campus.

The device for raising and lowering flags had been rendered useless by the trespassers, and more than an hour was consumed before the offending banner was brought down by a well-directed rock.

Randall County officers were summoned immediately after it was noticed that the flag was that of Soviet Russia.

The flag proved to be an improvised one with the communistic symbols crudely sewn to the red background. The Randall County sheriff's office is holding it for use as evidence. A check up with local dry goods merchants shows that the material was not purchased here recently.

Music Major To Present Senior Recital Thursday

Miss Royce Park, music major of W. T. who is receiving her degree this spring, will present her senior piano recital Thursday evening at 8:15 in the College auditorium. This recital is open to the public, and everyone is cordially invited by the music department to attend this program.

Miss Park is majoring in piano and has acquired an enviable reputation as a pianist on this campus, appearing frequently on college programs as soloist and accompanist aside from her position of pianist in the college orchestra.

The following numbers will be included on Miss Park's program: "Prelude and Fugue, B-flat Major," Bach; "Sonata, Op. 31, No. 3," Beethoven; "Prelude, Op. 28, No. 21," Chopin; "Nocturne, Op. 32, No. 1," Chopin; "Intermezzo," Brahms; "Impromptu, A-flat," Schubert; "Caprice Op. 43, No. 4," Aernsky; "Interrupted Serenade," Debussy; "Seguidillas," Albeniz.

Miss Park has accepted an invitation to present this same recital in Silverton on May 12.

Rising Young Bob Nestell Convinces Oldsters He Can Fight and 'Take It'

BY IRVING DIX

BOB NESTELL, the Hollywood fighter who looks like Gene Tunney and fights like Jack Dempsey, has passed the acid test.

When any youngster comes along in a hurry in the fight racket, the natural tendency of the old timers is to query: "Can he take it?"

A lot of the old boys aren't yet convinced that Joe Louis can absorb a lot of punishment, citing the fact that the bunch of guys he has been fighting have not in any measure given him the old dippy-do test.

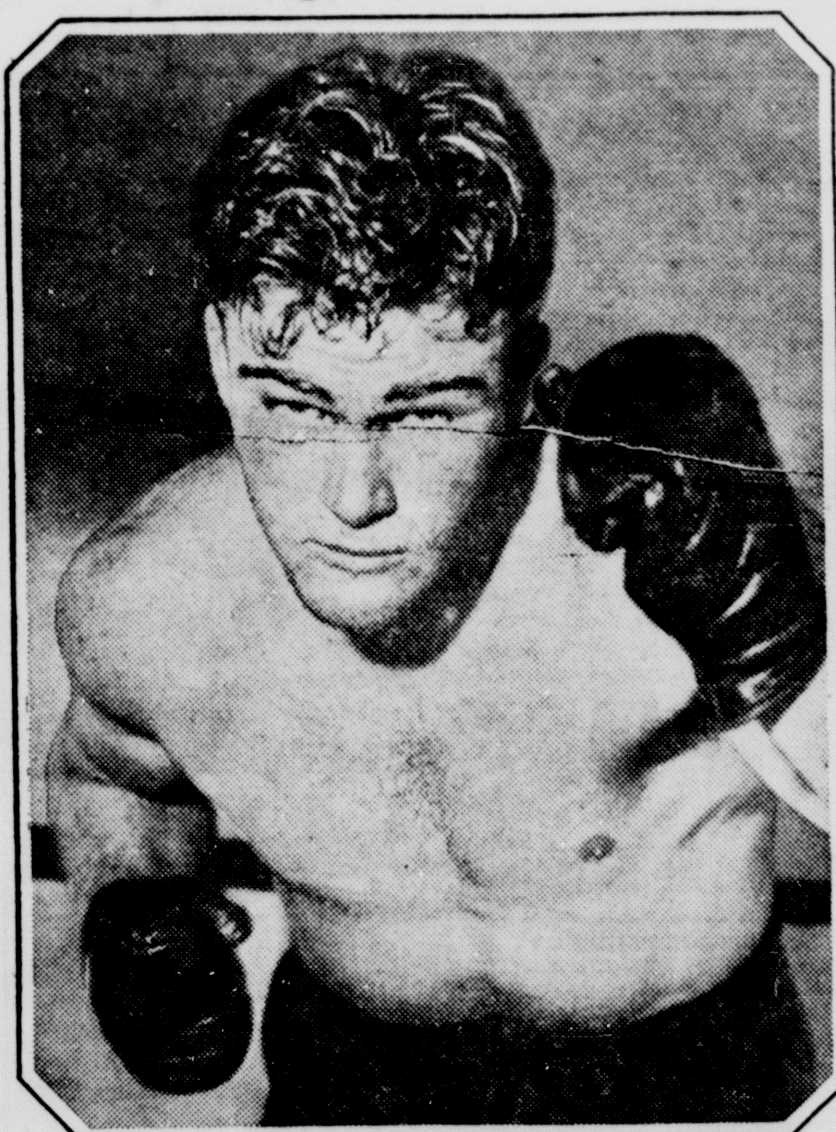

When young Nestell rang up a list of impressive victories that included triumphs over Kingfish, Levinsky, Frankie Hammer, and a knockout list of 10 in a row, a lot of the wise boys shook their heads and refused to believe that another heavyweight phenomenon had flashed across the horizon.

But when the 23-year-old good-looking lad finished off a recent evening by bobbing off the canvas after a count of nine and then knocking out rugged, experienced Lee Ramage in 10 rounds, the graybeards got their whiskers tangled up in their feet and began to nod "yes." In answer to whether or not the kid could take it.

NESTELL is under the capable handling of Gus Wilson, the Alsatian who came over here with Georges Carpentier and remained to become associated with Jack Dempsey. Gus believes the youngster is the answer to a fight manager's prayer.

Weighing 195 pounds, and standing nearly 6 feet 2 inches, the lad really has the makings of a great fighter. He has a right hand that flattens 'em in a hurry, and his left is acquiring the polish necessary in a fighter who expects to go far in the ranks.

His rather babyish face to the Bob Nestell . . . he may become the white Joe Louis. The graybeards are convinced he "can take it."

contrary, he is as ready for the kill as the ugliest-looking pug in the ranks, and when he starts stalking a victim, something is going to fall.

The youngster got his powerful physique from mauling logs and bully-boys in Oregon lumber camps. He is a fastidious eater, a faithful trainer, and a clean liver. He is confident that his future lies in fighting and has bent every effort to make himself the best in the business. A tip-off on the kid's coming greatness was given in a conversation in Los Angeles recently.

"Nestell looks like a white Joe Louis," someone remarked. "Say," replied Joe Waterman, veteran promoter, "a year from now you'll be saying that Louis looks like a black Nestell."

Dottie Boling will take part in the declamations next Saturday in the W. T. meet.
